EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A. PURPOSE

This document outlines a three-year plan for growing youth training programs and services provided by Salida Circus. This document is intended to attract investment in the staged growth of Salida Circus across Colorado and nation-wide to expand our services to provide leadership training and circus kits to enable social services to be established in other regions. That growth will be based on strategic partnerships that address our target audiences of at-risk and low-income families, children and teens.

Salida Circus is a unique blend of physical activity, artistic expression, and fun. This accessible program teaches children and teens to cooperate in teams, collaborate in non-violent ways and learn new skills in a non-competitive, nurturing and inclusive environment. Our point of difference is succinctly expressed in our tag line, "Circus with a Purpose."

B. MARKET ANALYSIS

"Social circus" refers to a tool for personal development, physical fitness and community building. This circus training is provided in a non-competitive, nurturing and inclusive environment. It's animal free and sexism free, based only on human learning and expression that is free from sexual stereotyping. Training is based on achieving personal goals rather than competition with others.

The market competition in which Salida Circus operates is anything else children and youth can do with their time. Competitive activities include competitive sports, other personal best sports with a higher cost of entry. (gymnastics, ballet), the estimated six hours of social media/video/TV exposure per America child (Cohen, 2015), general antisocial behavior and street/gang activity.

C. THE COMPANY

Salida Circus was established in 2007 as a United States model of the highly successful Belfast Community Circus in Northern Ireland. It is a two-pronged entity: social circus training and a circus performance troupe. The Salida Circus performances help fund the social circus training operation, by enhancing credentials, raising awareness, and developing a talent pool. On average, Salida Circus provides six weekly workshops, two annual camps and summer internships in Colorado.

The social environment in which Salida Circus was created and has grown is challenging. The combination of shifts in school programing and youth sports participation, increasing street violence, the rise of youth obesity, and economic pressures on families have resulted in at-risk behavior and unhealthy life styles. Financially-strapped public schools systems across the United States are cutting physical education and arts programs and even recess (Peak, 2015). According to the Wall Street Journal, there is a decline in youth sports, due to safety, cost and a generally threatening competitive environment for many children (Peak, 2015).

The Salida Circus approach holds high appeal for marginalized youth, pulling them into participation in a way that is non-threatening. It also appeals to youth who don't fit traditional competitive sports by providing a "low-cost-of-entry" activity that emphasizes self-esteem and personal best. It has broad appeal across ethnic groups, and is particularly well-suited to non-native speakers, refugees groups, and LBGT youth. According to the American Youth Circus Organization (AYCO) "State of the Circus Survey," the appeal of social circus to the 18-34 audience is personal growth, followed by artistic expression and a creative outlet. According to the AYCO 2014 Survey, the majority of youths served come from house-holds with annual incomes of under $25,000 (AYCO, 2014). To evaluate the effectiveness of our program, we distribute skills sheets and survey to participants, parents, teachers, and community leaders at the completion of each training session. These allows us to gauge our progress in reaching our stated outcomes, and to track skill progress of participants.

D. PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

We currently offer the following services which we plan to expand through our existing strategic partners, including the Boys & Girls Clubs of America and Mercy Housing, a low-income housing provider.

- Circus Classes and Camps Salida Circus offers weekly workshops, camps and summer internships, providing classes in juggling, aerial, stilt-walking, tumbling, plate-spinning, diabolo, acrobalance, and clowning with an emphasis on personal best rather than competing with others. For young entrepreneurs, we provide "Business of Circus" training. Salida Circus currently serves an estimated 650 youth per year in Chaffee County and has major expansion potential of our social circus training program through our existing strategic partners. The model has been tested and refined.
- Circus Performances Salida Circus provides circus acts-for-hire with our instructors, students and circus school graduates who provide circus acts for corporate parties, festivals or fundraisers, circus-grams to mark special events such as birthdays, weddings or anniversaries, and children's interactive shows for birthday party entertainment. This provides funding for the circus programs and employment opportunities for our students.

The next stage of growth includes two new social circus training products:

- Salida Circus Leadership Training (Level I, Level I) on and off-site tutor training for community leaders to become social circus practitioners, trained to start their own Salida Circus program.
- Salida Circus Build-your-own kits (Beginner, Intermediate and Advanced) the tools and materials needed to launch and grow your own social circus training and performance program.

E. GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

As Salida Circus enters our tenth year as a highly successful and proven method to engage youth and create safe community, our goal is to scale this program across the United States, by training leaders through the structures of clubs, communities, youth groups and schools. As we scale nationally, we will add other partnerships including the Public Housing Authority and Head Start, across target states/metro areas.

Objectives are broken down into Year I, Year II and Year III. In the space of the next three years, objectives include scaling our growth and increasing earned revenue, growing the pool of professional circus performers from 11 to 25, adding at least one major, new program partner, and launching a membership program. We have set a goal of raising awareness of training programs to 75% among our target audiences, and rolling out two significant program training products that will enhance revenue and program reach. To ensure stability, by Year III, Salida Circus plans to quadruple its reserve funds to $20,000.

F. MARKETING AND SALES STRATEGIES

The three-pronged strategy upon which to scale the Salida Circus program rests with 1) expanding partnerships with entities which share our target audience, 2) enhancing awareness through use of social media tools, and 3) development and launch of both a membership program and new training modules and materials.

A significant key to success for the Salida Circus is our community partnerships. Says Brian Beaulieu, Executive Director of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Chaffee County: "Our mission at the Boys & Girls Club is to inspire and enable all young people, especially those who need us the most, to realize their full potential as physically fit, productive, responsible citizens. Salida Circus works harder than any of our partners to provide this."

G. ORGANIZATION AND PERSONNEL CREDENTIALS

Salida Circus director, Jennifer Dempsey, is one of 21 social circus practitioners in the United States recognized by the American Youth Circus Organization and American Circus Educators. She is one of the only recognized practitioners who have established a year-round social circus training program and a professional performance troupe. Dempsey holds a Bachelors Degree in Applied Behavorial Science, a National Vocation Qualification in Youth work, and is certified by Full Circle Restorative Justice in Non-Violent Communication.

Dempsey spent 12 years with the Belfast Community Circus (BCCS) in Northern Ireland, as a volunteer tutor, paid performer, before advancing to position of first female director of circus in 1993. BCCS continues to be a highly successful conflict resolution program using circus as a way to bring Catholic and Protestant children together in a peaceful, non-confrontational way. In 2001, Jennifer returned to the U.S. where she founded the Scarlet Sisters Circus in California. For five years, the Scarlet Sisters performed throughout California (Hollywood Bowl, Rose Bowl FanFest, Laguna Festival of the Arts) and taught workshops at community centers, schools and at Girls Incorporated. In 2007, Jennifer moved to Salida, Colorado and founded the Salida Circus.

H. ` FINANCIAL DATA

While Salida Circus is financially sound, its resources are limited and its reserve fund is low. The executive director takes little salary, and plows most of the revenue back into the company operations. In order to grow, it needs access to capital, particularly to expand its trainer base. The 2016 budget projects revenues of $209, 620 on expenses of $196,622. The projected gain of $7,998 will be put toward the Year I goal of increasing current fund reserves from $4,000 to $10,000.

Key budget items include the following:

Item	$	%
Program staff and contract trainers	64,800	32.9
Performance space, equipment leases	38,540	19.6
Marketing of new Salida Circus Leadership training program	22,890	11.6
Leadership training certification program	5,900	3.1
Performance training and rehearsal	47,800	24.3
Sales & marketing	9,600	4.9
General admin	7,092	3.6
TOTAL:	$196,622	100.0%

IN SUMMARY:

No other program in the United States offers American families and communities opportunities for personal development and growth like the Salida Circus. With a contribution of $40,000 we plan to hire a full time development officer to research grants and other financial support so we may expand our reach to American youth and execute the proposed growth activities described in this plan to ultimately support statewide and nationwide operations.

Salida Circus programs provide a unique blend of physical activity, artistic expression, and fun. Our accessible program teaches children and teens to cooperate in teams, collaborate in non-violent ways and learn new skills in a non-competitive, nurturing and inclusive environment. We help families, provide career and entrepreneurial pathways, and play a role in developing successful, contributing human beings with purpose and potential. This point of difference is succinctly expressed in our tag line, "Circus with a Purpose."

II. MARKET ANALYSIS

ENVIRONMENT

The environment in which Salida Circus was created and has grown is a challenging one. The combination of shifts in school programing and youth sports participation, increasing street violence, the rise of youth obesity, and economic pressures on families have resulted in at-risk behavior and unhealthy life styles. Financially-strapped public schools systems across the United States are cutting physical education and arts programs and even recess. According to the Wall Street Journal, there is a decline in youth sports, due to safety, cost and a generally threatening competitive environment for many children.

Salida Circus addresses five key areas of concern for youth and families: The need for quality after-school programming for minority/low income families, the rise of childhood obesity, community safety, cuts in school funding arts/sports programs and popularity declines in traditional team sports.

Programming: Salida Circus fills need by partnering with Boys and Girls Club, Mercy Housing, Headstart, public and independent schools.

According to a 2012 After school Alliance survey, 89% of minority and low income families reported a need for quality after school programs in their community but were unable to access one (After School Alliance, 2014). Reasons for this were primarily income based: upper income families increased spending on after school activities by approximately $5,300 per year, while low-income families increased spending by $480 (After school Alliance, 2014). Salida Circus addresses this opportunity gap by partnering with Boys and Girls Club. As Brian Beaulieu, director of Chaffee County Boys and Girls Club states, "the free Salida Circus program at the Club serves children who are least likely to afford a quality after school program but who arguably need it the most." Furthermore, Salida Circus practitioner training and social circus kits allows low income communities (Mercy Housing) to establish a circus program in their own neighborhood, thereby making it affordable, accessible and tailored to their own needs (ie. language, time of program, etc).

Obesity: Salida Circus as fitness program

Childhood obesity has more than doubled in children and quadrupled in adolescents in the past 30 years (cdc.gov). Today more than one third of children and adolescents are considered overweight or obese (cdc.gov). Many factors contribute to this including diet, lack of structured physical activity, and the rise of sedentary activities. Research shows that US teens (13-18) are using entertainment or social media an average of nine hours per day, and tweens (8-12) an average of six hours per day (Cohen, 2015). Salida Circus' after school programs have been effective in promoting physical fitness in youth because circus is fun! Our training involves movement, flexibility, strength building and body awareness and as one young participant stated, joining the Salida Circus was "my dream come true!"

Community Safety: Salida Circus as safe alternative to anti-social activities

Safety concerns for urban youth, including exposure to gangs, violence, vandalism has inhibited children's participation in many physical activity programs (Bowers, et al 2015). Studies show that basing a circus program in one's own community and involving local community leaders not only keeps the program accessible, but the pride and positive reaction towards the program has reduced rates of vandalism (McCutcheon, 2003). Research also shows that circus activity often appeals to adolescent 'high risk takers' (McCutcheon, 2003). The perceived danger of stilt-walking, trapeze, unicycling, etc can redirect anti-social risk-taking into a positive direction (McCutcheon, 2003). This has strong potential to create new role models for risk-takers.

Funding cuts in school programs: Salida Circus fills community niche

Research shows that exercise and arts activity boosts concentration and cognitive abilities, yet funding for these programs have been cut cut in more than 80 percent of U.S. school districts since 2008 (Boyd, 2014). Kristen Paglia, Executive Director for Education and Programs at P.S. ARTS, says children are "being denied the right to basic education - and I consider art a part of basic education" (McArthur, 2014).

Decline in traditional team sports – Salida Circus as alternative physical activity

According to Lyle Micheli, sports clinic director at Children's Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts, many children in competitive team sports do not thrive due to the competitive atmosphere. He warns against coaches telling parents their children must specialize in a sport at a young age, as this leads to injury caused by overuse and burn out (Goldberg, 2009). Michael Bergeron, Executive Director of the National Youth Sports Health & Safety Institute, concurs: "We have to be aware of single sport specialization (and) overworking kids searching for the elite athlete. It's not fun for kids anymore. These things are causing kids to leave youth sport and not return" (Peak, 2015). Salida Circus addresses these problems by offering a variety of skills - juggling, aerial, stilt-walking, tumbling, plate-spinning, diabolo, acrobalance, clowning - in a non-competitive environment with an emphasis on personal best rather than competing with others. Additionally, Salida Circus training involves artistic expression in physical movement, costume, character development, staging or makeup.

COMPETITION

Salida Circus director, Jennifer Dempsey, is one of 21 social circus practitioners in the United States recognized by the American Youth Circus Organization and American Circus Educators. She is one of the only recognized practitioners who have established a year-round social circus training program and a professional performance troupe.

Only two other social circuses are recognized by the American Youth Circus Organization. This means that our competition is primarily anything else youth choose to do with their time. These include both healthy and unhealthy activities:

- The estimated 6 -9 hours a day youth spend on social media/computer/television (Cohen, 2015) sedentary /unhealthy
- Anti-social activities/juvenile delinquency unhealthy
- Doing nothing unhealthy
- Team sports healthy/competitive/often-times expensive
- Arts programs healthy/often-times expensive

MARKET BASE

Regional:

The market for Salida Circus social circus programs is vast. Currently we market to 17 Boys and Girls Clubs, 13 properties of Mercy Housing, 4 properties of Hope Communities, 42 Headstart programs, 178 school districts and 70 public libraries in Colorado.

Marketing strategy:

We reach our regional customer base through the Colorado Alliance of Boys and Girls Clubs, The office of Mercy Housing Colorado, Hope Communities Colorado, Colorado Headstart Association, and the Colorado Association of School Boards.

National:

The national market Salida Circus is also vast. Our customers include 4,175 Boys and Girls Clubs, 1800 independent schools, 98,817 public schools, and 1900 public housing associations in the United States. We reach our national customer base through the Boys and Girls Clubs of America, the National Association of Independent Schools, the National Low Income Housing Coalition, the National Office of Headstart, and the Public Housing Authorities Directors Association.

III. COMPANY DESCRIPTION

Salida Circus was established in 2007 as a United States model of the highly successful Belfast Community Circus in Northern Ireland. It is a two-pronged entity of social circus training and a circus performance troupe. The Salida Circus "for-hire" performances fund the social circus training operation, enhance credentials, raise awareness, and creates employment opportunities for social circus trainees. In addition to the circus performances, Salida Circus provides six weekly workshops, two annual camps and summer internship programs in Colorado. Participants who graduate from social circus training programs with a high skill level may be hired out as professional tutors and performers.

POSITIONING/POINT OF DIFFERENT

Salida Circus is a unique blend of physical activity, artistic expression, and fun. This accessible program teaches children and teens to cooperate in teams, collaborate in non-violent ways and learn new skills in a non-competitive, nurturing and inclusive environment. This point of difference is succinctly expressed in our tag line, "Circus with a Purpose."

ORGANIZATION AND PERSONNEL CREDENTIALS

Salida Circus director, Jennifer Dempsey, is one of 21 social circus practitioners in the United States recognized by the American Youth Circus Organization and American Circus Educators. She is the only recognized practitioner who has established a year-round social circus training program and a professional performance troupe. Dempsey spent 12 years with the Belfast Community Circus (BCCS) in Northern Ireland, first as a volunteer tutor, then as a paid performer, and in 1993, became their first female director of circus. In 2007, Jennifer moved to Salida, Colorado and founded the Salida Circus. (See full bio in Addendum)

FUNDING SOURCES

Funding strategies for social circus training with current partners (Boys & Girls Clubs, Mercy Housing, public school systems, public libraries) as well as potential partners (Head Start, Public Housing Authorities, public schools and public libraries) comes from local and national grants, corporate sponsorships, donations and revenue from circus performances.

BACKGROUND

Circus training has shown to enhance self-esteem, self-confidence, healthy risk taking and fitness (Boyd, 2014). Because of the wide variety of skills offered, our program allows each participant to find his or her own niche; and has particularly appealed to youth who do not thrive in traditional team sports.

Along with social circus training, Salida Circus also creates employment and business development opportunities. Participants who develop a high level of skill may be hired as paid performers at festivals, fairs, corporate events, etc; and may be hired as part of the tutor team. For young entrepreneurs, we provide "Business of Circus" training.

Partnering with Boys and Girls Clubs and low income housing associations has allowed Salida Circus to serve youth in a structured, organized, effective manner; and allows us to reach youth who would not otherwise afford circus training. Furthermore, Salida Circus national and international internship and exchange programs (ie: Belfast Community Circus (2015), Circus Central, England (2010), Circus WAVE, Northern Ireland (2009), La Cambalacha, Guatemala (2009) allow participants to interact with youth they would not otherwise meet.

SALIDA CIRCUS BUSINESS ETHICS

Salida Circus workshops are conducted in a nurturing, non-competitive, inclusive atmosphere with an emphasis on on personal best rather than competing with others. Workshops are open to everyone, but we reach out to marginalized youth through social services, mentoring programs, LBGT groups, ESL and refugee groups.

All Salida Circus tutors pass background checks and adhere to the American Youth Circus Organization's "Recommended Core Competencies for Youth Circus Practitioners" and "Toward Best Practices in Youth Worker Training for Development Circus Arts Programs." Our tutors refer to the American Circus Educators "Teaching Tips" Manual (Lipscomb, 2011), Circademics website and Cirque du Monde site for new trends, theories, practices and philosophies of social circus training. Additionally, all Salida Circus tutors are encouraged to attend Marshall Rosenberg's Non-Violent Communication courses conducted by Full Circle Restorative Justice of Chaffee County. Salida Circus is a member of the American Youth Circus Organization (AYCO), American Circus Educators (ACE), Circademics, World Circus Federation, Clown Theory and Circus Friends Worldwide.

IV. PRODUCTS AND SERVICES

Salida Circus currently offers two services: social circus training and circus performances.

- Social Circus Training Social circus training is offered locally to all citizens of Chaffee County, aged four years and older at six weekly workshops, held at community centers and at the Salida Boys and Girls club. We hold two annual camps (summer and New Year) and three annual master classes for higher level participants. Social circus training is offered state and nation-wide via training videos, Skype seminars and practitioner training seminars in Salida. The model has been tested and refined and we plan to present it to other entities that match our target audience, including HeadStart programs, public schools and after school programs and other low income support services groups.
- Circus Performances Salida Circus provides acts-for-hire with our instructors, students and circus school graduates. This provides funding for the circus programs and employment opportunities for our students.

The next stage of growth includes two new social circus training products to expand the Salida Circus business model to allow statewide and nationwide opportunities through a Salida Circus Membership program:

- Salida Circus Leadership Training Members will receive (level 1 and 2) on and off-site-tutor training to become social circus practitioners, trained to start their own Salida Circus programs.

BIOGRAPHY: EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR JENNIFER DEMPSEY

Salida Circus founder Jennifer Dempsey received her first circus training at 8 years old at the Oak View Elementary Youth Circus in Fairfax, Virginia. Under the direction of nationally recognized physical education teacher James Moyer, this after school program offered free circus training and performance opportunities to children 6 years and older for almost 40 years. The Oak View Youth Circus performed in approximately 20 festivals, parades and fairs each year around the Washington DC area. Upon his passing, Mr. Moyer was recognized by President Ronald Reagan and the Virginia State Senate for his contribution to the social and physical well-being of thousands of students over his 40 year teaching career.

Jennifer's 10 years with the Oak View Youth Circus provided her with skills and inspiration for her 12 years with the Belfast Community Circus School (BCCS) in Northern Ireland. Established in 1985, BCCS was a conflict resolution program using circus as a way to bring Catholic and Protestant children together in a peaceful, non-confrontational way. Jennifer began as a volunteer tutor, got hired as a paid performer and eventually became BCCS' first female director in 1993. From 1992 to 1997, Jennifer also worked as a circus trainer for Circus 1 to 3, a social circus program based in a boy's reformatory home in West Belfast. The program was ground-breaking in integrating some of the most marginalized, at-risk youth in Belfast and was the subject of a 1995 BBC documentary "Hard Act."

In 1997, Jennifer was recruited as a performer by London-based Circo Rum Ba Ba, United Kingdom's premier women's circus theater company. She performed with the troupe around England and Ireland for two years before moving back to Belfast and starting her own women's circus theater company Circus Spectacky.

In Sept 2001, Jennifer took Circus Spectacky on tour to New York City where they performed at women's centers, including the Gilda Radner Club. Three days into the tour, the tragedy of 9/11 occurred prompting Jennifer to decide to move back to the United States to be closer to family. In Feb 2002, she moved to Orange County, California where she founded the Scarlet Sisters Circus with her younger sister Jessica. For five years, the Scarlet Sisters performed throughout California (Hollywood Bowl, Rose Bowl FanFest, Laguna Festival of the Arts) and taught workshops at community centers, school and at Girls Incorporated.

In 2007, Jennifer moved to Salida, Colorado and founded the Salida Circus. What began as a weekly back yard stilt workshop has grown into a full time operation with 6 weekly workshops, two annual camps and more than 60 performances per year. Currently Salida Circus has two full time staff, a team of 11 professional tutors and performers, a board of directors and 15 volunteers. Through the annual programs, Salida Circus serves an estimated 650 youth per year in Chaffee County.

In 2009, Jennifer organized two international exchanges: In March, she and three other Salida Circus members volunteered at La Cambalacha, an indigenous circus school for Mayan youth. In July, Salida Circus hosted 10 members from Circus WAVE (Widows Against Violence), an outreach program Jennifer started in 1999 for bereaved families in Northern Ireland.

That same year, Jennifer was one of the top three finalists for Frito-Lay's "True North Awards." https://youtu.be/gs7C44wDg5c

In 2014, Jennifer was recognized by American Youth Circus Organization as an Affiliated Social Circus Practitioner. Jennifer holds a Bachelors Degree in Applied Behavorial Science, a National Vocation Qualification in Youth work, and is certified by Full Circle Restorative Justice in Non-Violent Communication.

I write today to express my enthusiastic support for The Salida Circus. Few programs are as welcomed and cherished by our members, staff, board and volunteers. In the past year, Salida Circus has worked with more than 160 of our members, inspiring them to challenge themselves and work as a team. Salida Circus is the premier youth program in our county and we are fortunate to have them working with our kids throughout the year.

Salida Circus instructors are professionals who get results. Our members, many of whom come from disadvantaged circumstances, respond extremely well to the individual and small group instruction they receive from Salida Circus. Our kids are treated with respect and given opportunities and experiences that would be unique in a large city and made that much more special in our small rural community.

I also appreciate Salida Circus' strong financial management. The value provided, at all levels, shows the clear oversight provided by their leadership team. I am well aware of the sacrifices made by all of the Salida Circus organizers and instructors as they provide a world class program at a nominal cost.

Our mission at the Boys & Girls Club is to inspire and enable all young people, especially those who need us the most, to realize their full potential as physically fit, productive, responsible citizens. Salida Circus works harder than any of our partners to provide this experience. Please contact me if you would like to know more about the wonderful Salida Circus program and how it has positively impacted our Club members.

Sincerely,
Brian Beaulieu, Executive Director
Boys & Girls Clubs of Chaffee County
